

Deployments are hard for families and especially for kids, so here's a gift from us to help you stay close to that special person in your life who is being deployed. We hope you'll use this journal to write about things that matter to you. When your family is all together that matter to you'll share your journal with your again, we hope you'll share your journal with your special person so they'll know how much you thought about them while they were away.

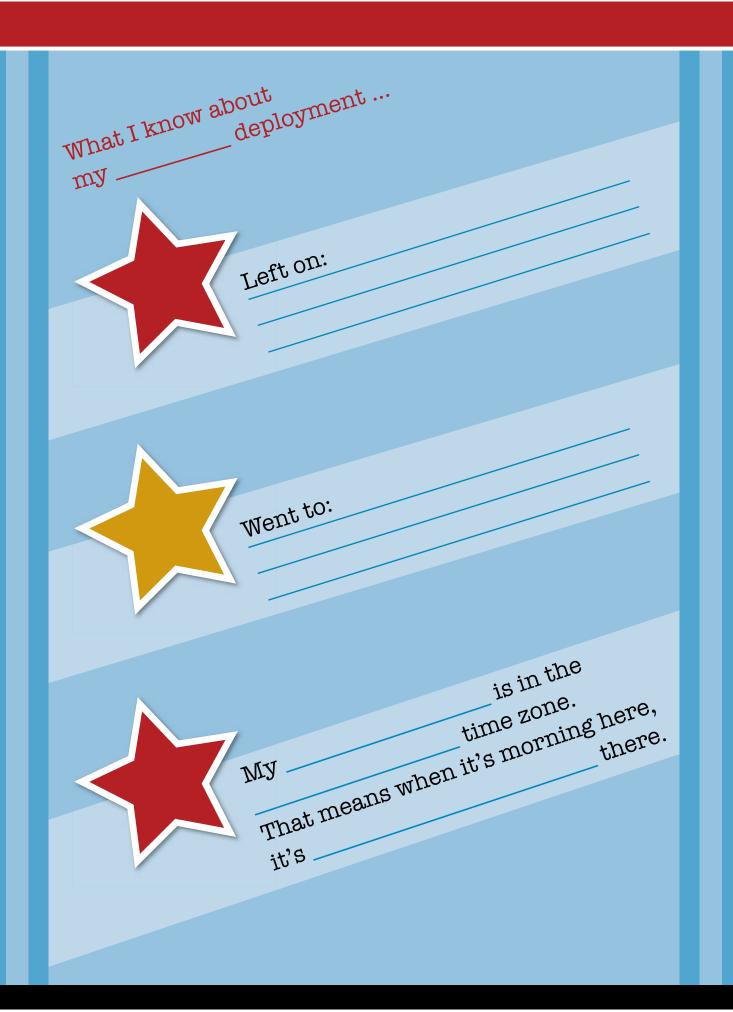

It would mean so much to me if you would send me a photo of you with your journal and the person you missed during their deployment. You can email me or send it by regular mail or stop by our Travis Air Force send it by regular mail or stop by our Travis Air Force Base branch with the journal and your special person. We can take your photo and thank you personally. We'll post your photo on the Kid's Corner of our Web site and also in the branch to honor you and your family for serving our nation.
